

New York City

2017 August 15th

CFturbo, Inc. a mechanical engineering software company specialized on Turbomachinery systems design, analysis, optimization and rapid prototyping has moved to NEWLAB at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Brooklyn, NY. German based CFturbo had started its US-operation in January 2017. President of CFturbo, Inc. Ralph-Peter Mueller is excited: “NEWLAB is the most famous startup incubator for manufacturing technology related businesses in New York City. We are very proud to be member of this community now. It is not only the beautiful workspace with all its technical and social capabilities. We were convinced by the general concept of NEWLAB, and we see lots of synergy to other teams within. The new location will give us outstanding opportunities for innovation and growth in America.”

